

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ILSCO Extrusion's Gary Jones recognized by AEC as 2013 Volunteer of the Year

GREENVILLE, PA – April, 2013

Every year, the Aluminum Extruders Council recognizes one or more individuals for their outstanding service and achievements as an AEC volunteer. Gary Jones, Operations Manager for ILSCO Extrusions, Inc. in Greenville, Pennsylvania, was recently recognized for his dedicated work during the annual meeting of the Aluminum Extruders Council. Jones received one of two Volunteer of the Year Awards for 2013. Gary is a longtime member of the AEC Technical Services Committee and was integrally involved in helping the council reach a reasonable compromise that continues today for the heat treatment standard issue known as "Footnote 9". In announcing the award, outgoing Chairman Duncan Crowdis said of Jones: "As a key member of AEC's Industry Standards Team, Gary has served for over a dozen years as a capable and staunch advocate for our aluminum extruders, assisting the Council and the industry in resolving a number of very sensitive and technically complex issues."

Gary continues to serve the aluminum industry as a member of the AEC's Industry Standards Team and is the acting liaison to the Aluminum Association's Technical Committee on Product Standards where he chairs the sub-committee on Alloy Temper Registration.

Pictured above: Gary Jones (right) accepts a plaque from John Thigpen, IEI General Manager, in recognition of his key contributions to the Aluminum Extruders Council.