

The Science of God

Technology, Spirituality and the quest for higher consciousness

Talks by Zach Leary

As we forge ahead in the 21st Century there are many big questions that are being played out and some that have gone yet unanswered. Can we manage our massive growth as a species? Can we stop climate change before it's too late? Pick your issue and sit with it, whatever it is.

No matter what you think the solution is or isn't coming back to self determination, self actualization and an enlightenment that is attainable is a good place to start. We can't have the discussion or propose solutions if we can't evolve into a state that isn't capable of having discussions that really matter.

Join Zach as he weaves together the tales from his many paths and experiences he's had over the years. From yoga to psychedelics all the way to technology and politics, Zach will bring awareness to some of the big issues facing our fragile time. Rather than give finite answers, Zach will hopefully inspire the listener on new and more meaningful ways to view each other combined with an every day approach to opening the heart. All of that is then mixed with a passion at exploring our evolutionary collective consciousness that will lead to the individual coming up with their own answers.

Topics covered: the fusion of technology and spirituality, the mutation of the 21st century psycho-naught, how to have sane spirituality in the modern age, the war on consciousness expansion and all around humor, stories from his life and maybe even a little meditation.

Appearances: Lucidity Festival, Love Serve Remember Events, Bhakti Fest, Burning Man and many more.
