Daniel Roy Lehman, who author in the of "4 of Akynd," a first in a series, brings insight to the fantasy genre. He is United States Navy veteran, a former computer programmer, and has extensive experience in construction, sales, and insurance.

His education includes "an entirely redundant amount of schooling in computers and electronics", 4 years of trade school, 2 bachelor's degrees, 2 years of Naval training, and he is just shy of receiving his 3rd bachelor's degree.

Of his accomplishments, he is most proud of his two wonderful children and his loving, supportive wife. Daniel has been reading avidly since before he can remember and writing since the 3rd grade. Once he discovered Dungeons and Dragons, his focus narrowed almost exclusively fantasy.
