

9. Feedback of the participants

The course content is always focused on the need assessments of the participants and their feedback after the completion of the courses in order to enhance the quality of the programmes/courses. The HRDC also provide for assessing the Resource persons by participants during each course to evaluate their effectiveness in teaching and learning. Further, on the basis of overall feedback of the participants, the courses are redesigned suitably. By this criterion, the participants have expressed great satisfaction in improving their professional skill and depth of knowledge gained by attending the courses.
