CURRENT/UPCOMING EXHIBITS

Colors of Compassion by Bhavna Misra

February 22nd – March 21st

Opening Reception: Friday, February 28, 2020 7-9

Colors of Compassion by Bhavna Misra are the results of creative compositions of contemporary California landscapes using the traditional yet timeless oil medium. These paintings are an attempt to imitate the spectrum of indefinable range of colors that flawlessly occur in nature. The paintings are a part of the artist's ongoing series, "Local Scenes", in which she paints landscapes of the region covering valleys, mountains, deserts, and coasts. Through this sample collection, she hopes to share the natural beauty and the spectacular views of the Bay Area.

Ginger Summit gave a wonderful presentation on felting, including history of the craft and many of her own works of art. Ginger brought extra supplies so we could all try our hand at working with wet or dry felting. It was fun to see all the various crafted rugs, birds, animals, and clothing she shared with us. Thanks also to Mission Coffee and Norma Neto for our refreshments.

President's Message The Board just completed its second meeting for 2020! And, a good, meaty meeting it was. We are not an organization of "tea and cookies" but, rather, a hearty one involved in truly working to promote the visual arts in our community. Some of the subjects we dealt with today included:

- Scholarships for high school & Ohlone College students;
- City of Fremont BoxArt Program and how we can help students participate
- Beginning the 10th year of our Art Instruction Program for developmentally disabled adults
- Planning our 2020 Holiday for the Arts annual fundraiser for September this year
- Upcoming programs for our Members and the public; and
- Improving Gallery visibility in the community.

While this may be some duplication of the Board Highlights elsewhere in this issue, I feel it is important that our members know that OHAG is an active, vital, vibrant, energetic, and hard-working component of our community. We are not light weights by any means.

I remind you of this because we are approaching the critical time of the year when we need to put together a slate of Board Members for the coming year. I don't mean to scare anyone away but do want to emphasize that we are an organization that does important work in the community and in order to continue that work, we need people to step up and volunteer. Believe it or not, the future of the Guild is at stake. I'm urging, actually begging everyone to consider taking on a task. If you're not sure what you might do, talk to me or any other Board Member. It's really not difficult – and it is most often a lot of fun.

Our next artists' reception is Friday night, February 28th, and titled "Colors of Compassion" by Bhavna Misra. I'm looking forward to seeing many of you there. Hopefully, it will be a warm evening. The April 11th opening for "Hidden Treasures, Local Talent" Exhibit will be our first Saturday afternoon reception (be sure to mark your calendar). This Show is one of the Gallery's most popular, so you won't want to miss it.

This is a year for trying new things – won't you join me in making it happen?!
