What have you been up to during the Stay in Place Order?

Karen Dobmeier has been virtually live cooking up a storm with TheTourGuy.com

Lauren Shaver has been doing virtual art classes with grand nieces and nephew via Zoom.

Missing my friends, learning to make a quarantini and trying to see life thru Rose Colored Glasses. Joan Bobrink has also been sending a "SIP" email daily friends!

Art Scholarship

We are pleased to announce the Guild will continue our long history of supporting local students in their pursuit of visual arts in higher education by presenting our annual art scholarships on-line this year. We are creating a virtual gallery to show the work of the Fremont High School and Ohlone College finalists. We will update you with a link to the gallery once we launch at the end of May.

Olive Hyde Art Guild – 2020 Holiday Show, September 25, 26, 27

PROJECT MINIART! - UPDATE

The response to Project Mini Art has been great! We want to thank the 30 plus OHAG members who have already volunteered to make a mini art piece for the Holiday Show. Each art piece will be displayed and sold for $25 at the Holiday Show with the proceeds going to OHAG Art in the Schools funds.

For OHAG PROJECT MINI ART the Guild is providing each artist with a 5" x 5" gallery wrapped canvas with a 1 ½ "profile. All mediums that can be applied or adhered to this surface are eligible to participate. Very soon Denise will be contacting each artist to arrange delivery/drop off of the canvases.

There is still opportunity for a few more artists to sign up before the 45 maximum of mini art pieces is reached. For the Prospectus and to sign up, please contact <mailto:deniseoyamamiller@comcast.net>.

Having trouble deciding what art your 5" x 5" mini art canvas deserves? Susan Longini has volunteered to lead a workshop where she will demonstrate several design ideas. The date and time are to be determined. When you sign up for the free workshop, you will receive a list of suggested materials to gather.

Thanks to All from the Project Mini Art Team – Denise, Katherine, Nancy, Joan & Judy

Elaina Habel has been painting birdhouses for the wild bird visitors to her backyard.

President’s Message

These are uncertain times for all of us to say the least. You probably have already heard that the City of Fremont has discontinued all programs, rentals, and events through June 14, 2020. This includes closure of the Gallery and cancellation of exhibits until further notice. The Guild Board has been in contact through email and is attempting to make prudent decisions with respect to the Guild and its assets. The Guild has no policy for this pandemic and the current situation, so we are working to maintain the status quo with minimal impact on our members. All members will soon receive a letter from me outlining how we will proceed through the end of this year. I wish I had more answers as to when the Gallery might reopen, when we will have exhibits again, and when we can gather in the courtyard to enjoy refreshments and renew acquaintances.

In the meantime, I hope you are all safe, healthy, and looking out for each other. I look forward to working with you to continue our mission - to promote interest in and participation in the visual arts in our community.

Be well,

Gail Blalock, Guild President

Olive Hyde Happenings!

Olive Hyde Art Guild will be sponsoring the third annual Children’s Mental Health Awareness Day Art Commission. The event helps to raise awareness about the importance of children’s mental health, reducing stigma, and increasing access to service when children and their families are in need. The art will be displayed virtually beginning May 7, 2020 which is National Children’s Mental Health Awareness Day. The Guild’s $400.00 contribution will be used to fill six baskets full of quality art supplies for grades K-1, 2-3, and 4-6. The event is coordinated by the City of Fremont Youth and Family Services Division. Prize baskets will be distributed in compliance with Covid 19 health orders.
