Sr. Melanie shares her work and prayer space with us as she shelters safe at home in Brookfield, Wisconsin.

She writes, my prayer and family zoom space is in my tv room because of sliding glass doors where I can see outside.

Sr. Alana shares photos from her home in Tucson, Arizona. In the photo to the right, Sr. Alana is visiting with her upstairs neighbor and practicing good social distancing.
Sharon Niemet, a member of our faith community sent us the picture on the right and this note, “A few years ago a friend gave me this plaque because she knew how much I appreciated and was uplifted by great art. During these months when so many museums are closed, I have been making time to digitally visit galleries at art museums throughout the world. These mini-visits are refreshing and I can feel my mind and heart open up to the larger world and its beauty.

Sr. Bea and Sr. Sylvia send blessings from their home in Elgin, IL.

They honored the 50th Anniversary of Earth Day with special t-shirts and are enjoying the flowers and flowering trees in their yard, "bringing spring joy and hope to our lives."

How are you finding beauty?
How are opening your heart and mind?
What brings you joy and hope?
