

Literacy of Northern New York Online Tutor Training Course for Volunteers Open Enrollment for Your Convenience

Literacy of Northern NY now offers an online version of its Tutor Training Course for volunteers. The online training provides an alternative to prospective tutors who cannot attend multiple in-house training sessions. There is a short, in-person Pre-session meeting, online training for BLL (Basic Literacy) and ELL (English Language Learner), and a final, in-person post-training session. Volunteers can take BLL, ELL, and Math or all three training courses.

The training is open to Jefferson and Lewis County residents. If you are interested and would like more information, please contact the office in your county.

Literacy of Northern NY matches adults who want to become better readers or are learning English, with someone who can give them one-on-one help. First, tutors go through a training course to help them learn basic teaching techniques and are then matched with a student.

Tutors and students meet once or twice a week for about an hour. Most tutors and learners meet in public places such as libraries, our computer lab or other public places where there is a room available so that you can maintain privacy.
