About Senator Cheryl Kagan

Sen. Kagan proudly represents Rockville and Gaithersburg. A longtime nonprofit leader and former member of the House of Delegates, she serves on the Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs (EHEA) Committee. In addition, Kagan chairs the AELR (Administrative, Executive, and Legislative Review Committee) and serves on the Joint Audit and Federal Relations Committees. Sen. Kagan is known as a hard-working, thoughtful, and effective leader who builds bipartisan coalitions in order to make progress on policy issues.

After three people died in her district when our emergency systems failed, Kagan has dedicated the past five years to prepare Maryland's 9-1-1 system for "NextGen911." Her legislation adjusted our funding; strengthened cybersecurity protection; enhanced tools for recruiting our 9-1-1 Specialists; and increased oversight. Senator Kagan was named the League of Conservation Voters "Legislator of the Year" for enacting the first statewide Styrofoam ban in the country. Her "Freedom to Serve" law will help diversify our police forces. She strengthened our technology funding organization and our transparency in government. For these and other accomplishments, Kagan was included among the Maryland Matters list of 2019 "Winners."

In her "spare time," Cheryl Kagan works with the nonprofit Community Reach (formerly Community Ministries of Rockville). She is the founder and Executive Producer of the "UnNaugural Concert" and is launching her 18th year of hosting "Folk 'N Great Music" that presents national singer/songwriters in Rockville. Kagan is a nationally ranked Scrabble competitor and is proud to have lured the National Championships to Baltimore for the Summer of 2020!
