

Don't Store Excess Linen in Patient Rooms

- Extra linen placed in a patient's room is considered contaminated when the patient is discharged and it must be put in a soiled linen bag.
- It could be costing your facility thousands of dollars per year to launder this unused linen.

