Screening identifies victims and provides education. Always:

- Ask direct questions
- Talk in private
- Be non-judgmental in words, manner and tone
- Use gender-neutral terms—such as “partner”

Documenting in the medical chart preserves a record of abuse. Document:

- Screening results
- Indicators of abuse
- Injuries and marks
- Patient's account—use direct quotes
- Don't document specifics of a safety plan, such as location after discharge
- Don't use judgmental terms—“states” and “declines” are better than “alleges” and “refuses”
