Ms. Aumann's Notes.....

Week 23.... More SNOW and Basketball made for an interesting week! Congratulations to the 7th Grade Boys Basketball Team for winning Sectionals! What a game. I was able to watch it from home because the Pana News-Palladium streamed it live on their Facebook page. The weather/icy roads kept me in Nokomis, but I was so glad I could watch them play. It is wonderful to see them on the court, but I'm blessed to see each one of them in my classroom day after day. I know them well beyond their athletic ability.

Curriculum

Religion: We worked on our bishop letters and finished chapter 20.

Vocabulary: We finished unit 9. Students finished their timeline. They created a timeline of world events along with a few events from their own lives.

English-We did our weekly daily oral language review. We started brainstorming for our next essay. It will be a five-paragraph essay on junior colleges/universities/trade schools they would like to attend after high school. This assignment always opens their eyes to the cost of education. For this assignment, I tell them to look at any college regardless of cost.

Science-We worked on section one in Chapter 5. Students used the jigsaw method explain different parts of the section. We will be doing an experiment soon -looking at stomata under the microscope.

Reading-We have read three chapters in Roll of Thunder, Hear my Cry. The tension in the book is starting to build. We worked on comprehension questions.

Snow days prevented a full week of school. I'm trying my best to get through the curriculum with the days we are present in school. Thank you for supporting SHS. I always appreciate it.
