ECHL GAME #416 TULSA OILERS vs UTAH GRIZZLIES

FRIDAY, May 14 - BOK CENTER (TULSA, OK)

TULSA OILERS

26-26-7-2 (61 PTS)
Sixth Place - WEST

HEAD COACH: ROB MURRAY (4th SEASON)

UTAH GRIZZLIES

27-21-5-6 (65 PTS)
Fourth Place - WEST

HEAD COACH: Tim Branham

CONLAN KEY-MAN

Rookie forward Conlan Keenan enters tonight's contest with three goals in his last three games. A SUNY-Oswego product, Keenan has seen limited action this season. Originally signed with Toledo, the rookie forward made his pro debut with Tulsa on Jan. 28. The rookie had only played four games in April before being called upon for the series against the Allen Americans. Keenan scored all three of his goals at big times, including the goal that jumpstarted a 4-2 comeback against Allen at the Allen Event Center. Keenan showed tenacity and grit on two of his three goals, outworking the hulking opposition. His lone power-play goal on the season came in the 4-2 win, sniping the goaltender glove side. Keenan looks to continue his strong form as he continues to gain more experience.

SERIOUS SEASON SERIES

This weekend's series marks the last three meetings of the campaign between the two division rivals. The last time the two teams met was at the BOK Center on the first of the month. Utah racked up an astounding 81 PIM in the game, the most for an opponent at the BOK Center. Matthew Boucher received a three-game suspension, while forward Hayden Hodgson and head coach Tim Branham both received one-game bans. The Oilers shut the Grizzlies out 2-0 in the game, and Hayden Hawkey made 29 saves en route to his first shutout as an Oiler. The win advanced Tulsa's record against the Grizzlies to 5-0-0-0 against Utah at home this season. The season series currently sits at 6-2-1-0 overall. Both teams are fighting for the coveted final playoff spot in the Western Conference. Adam Pleskach leads both teams in the series with a staggering eight goals and six assists for 14 points. Boucher leads Utah with five goals and four assists, giving the leading rookie scorer nine total points in the series. The Oilers have had five goaltenders appear against the Grizzlies, and Utah has presented four netminders when facing Tulsa. Peyton Jones, Hayden Hawkey, Garret Metcalf and Devin Williams are tied with three appearances each.
