

David Wilshaw, MS, PG

President / Principal Engineering Geologist

Professional summary

David Wilshaw holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Geology awarded by the University of London in 1984 and a Master of Science (Engineering) Degree in Foundation Engineering, awarded by the University of Birmingham in 1987. Mr Wilshaw was admitted as a Fellow of the Geological Society of London in 1989. The Geological Society of London was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1825 and Mr Wilshaw has been entitled to use the style and designation of Chartered Geologist since 1992. He has been licensed as a Professional Geologist in the State of Florida since 2006 (License No. PG2413). He is also licensed in Tennessee (2011) and Pennsylvania (2017). Mr Wilshaw has also been a Member of the Association of Engineering and Environmental Geologists since 2002 and a Member of the American Institute of Professional Geologists since 2011.

Mr Wilshaw has resided and worked in Florida since 2004 and has been the statutory Professional Geologist retained pursuant to §627.707 Florida Statutes for more than 900 subsidence investigations relating to insurance claims for possible sinkhole activity. He has also been certified since 2011 as a Neutral Evaluator by the Division of Consumer Services, Florida Department of Financial Services, in accordance with §627.7074 Florida Statutes, completing over 140 neutral evaluation assignments.

Over his long career, David Wilshaw has provided geological, geotechnical and environmental science expertise for: housing, commercial and retail developments, including public buildings; big-box/warehouse developments; cinemas; theme parks; hotels; military installations, power plants, gas stations; and restaurants. He has extensive experience in geotechnical design for transportation infrastructure, including bridge, embankment, cutting and tunnel engineering for road, rail, airport and seaport projects. He has also provided assessments of subsidence risk associated with the Florida karst terrane and the mitigation of risk from shallow, abandoned coal, limestone, and metal mining; including design and oversight of treatment schemes to stabilize open workings and mine shafts.

Employment History

For the last 35+ years, David Wilshaw's professional experience has been in the practice of Engineering Geology. The Executive Committee of the Division on Engineering Geology of the Geological Society of America defined an Engineering Geologist as follows: "A professional engineering geologist is a person who, by reason of his special knowledge of the geological sciences and the principles and methods of engineering analysis and design acquired by professional education or practical experience, is qualified to apply such special knowledge for the purpose of rendering professional services or accomplishing creative work such as consultation, investigation, planning, design or supervision of construction for the purpose of assuring that the geologic elements affecting the structures, works or projects are adequately treated by the responsible engineer."

CURRENT ACTIVITIES

Britannia Solutions, LLC President, Winter Garden, FL, May 2012 – Present

Consulting forensic engineering geology both domestically and internationally, peer review of cause of subsidence reports, written and verbal expert opinions, trial testimony as an expert witness, Neutral Evaluation of disputed sinkhole insurance claims for the Florida DFS, hydrogeologic assessments, radon risk, non-karst ground collapse assessment, coal mining subsidence risk, blast risk from surface mining, ground risk management for new construction, and training and continuing education.

PAST EMPLOYMENT

Valencia College Adjunct Professor, Orange County, FL, October 2015 – August 2019

Member of the part-time faculty at Valencia College in Orlando, teaching an undergraduate Earth Science class with an emphasis on geology and specifically Florida geology.

Scientific Applications in Forensic Engineering, LLC (S.A.F.E.) Partner, Davie, FL, October 2013 – May 2018

Principal Geologist to a full-service engineering consultancy; carried out cause-of-subsidence investigations for insurance companies, individuals and businesses, geologic/geotechnical consulting for new construction, karst risk assessment and Phase I Environmental Site Assessments.

BCI Engineers & Scientists / AMEC-BCI / AMEC Environment & Infrastructure Assistant Director of Forensic Engineering & Science / Geologic Hazards Manager, Lakeland, FL, 2010 – 2012

Manager of the forensic engineering & science business unit based in Lakeland and Tampa, FL, engaged in performing cause-of-subsidence investigations principally for insurance companies.

Universal Engineering Sciences, Inc., Vice President, Engineering & Environmental Services
Orlando, FL, 2004 - 2010

Manager of the geotechnical engineering and environmental services departments based in Orlando, FL. Provided consulting services for land development and construction projects throughout Florida and the Bahamas, including residential, commercial / public-sector developments; transportation; environmental site assessment, clean-up and monitoring of soil and groundwater contamination; sinkhole risk and remedial designs for pre-and post-development sinkhole stabilization.

Applied GeoKinetics, Inc., Senior Engineering Geologist, Irvine, CA, 2003-2004

Forensic engineering geological investigations related to slope instability and damage to foundations for commercial and residential properties throughout southern California.

Ian Farmer Associates (1998) Limited, Deputy Managing Director, Chester, UK, 1998-2003

Established a regional office and grew a geotechnical and environmental consultancy business throughout the UK. Service lines included geotechnical and contaminated land exploration, in-situ and laboratory testing services, environmental assessment and clean-up, foundation and earthwork design, slope stability assessment, mineworking and mine shaft stabilization.

Exploration Associates Limited, Regional Manager, Chester, UK, 1995-1998

Manager of the North West regional office serving north west England, north Wales, western Scotland and Northern Ireland. Service lines included geotechnical exploration and testing services, contaminated land exploration, geophysics and hydrographic surveying, geotechnical consulting for foundation and earthwork design, soil and rock slope stability, earth retaining structures.

Wardell Armstrong, Associate Partner, West Bromwich, UK, 1992-1995

Mining, minerals, engineering and environmental consultancy, working on projects relating mainly to geotechnical exploration and testing, contaminated land investigation, soil and groundwater clean-up, brownfields reclamation and mineworkings investigation and stabilization.

CL Associates/Soil Mechanics Limited, Engineering Geologist, Halesowen, UK, 1990-1992

Staff geologist rising to senior geologist. Carried out geotechnical and geoenvironmental investigations throughout the UK and Europe.

Independent Contractor/Consultant, Engineering Geologist, Birmingham, UK, 1988-1990

Field geologist and site agent for geotechnical and geoenvironmental site investigations throughout the UK.

Allott & Lomax, Engineering Geologist, Manchester, UK, 1987-1988

Staff geologist within an engineering consultancy involved in conventional and nuclear power plant design.

Anadrill Schlumberger, Logging Engineer, Aberdeen, UK & Bergen, Norway, 1984-1986

Mudlogging geologist working in North Sea offshore oil exploration / exploitation on a variety of wildcat wells and production platforms.

Representative projects

Expert Witness Services - Recognized Expert Geologist. Providing expert opinion to engineering firms, plaintiff and defence attorneys and insurers on the presence or absence of statutorily defined sinkhole activity and geologic mechanisms of confirmed sinkhole activity. Testifying Expert Witness at jury trial on over 40 occasions (Hernando, Hillsborough, Lake, Miami-Dade, Pasco, Pinellas, Seminole and Volusia Counties, Florida). Consulting expert geologist on non-karst ground subsidence issues in Florida, Philadelphia, PA, Maryville, IL & Marion County, IN. Consulting expert geologist for blasting impacts and mine instability issues in Teller County, CO. Consulting expert geologist for potential blasting-related radon gas releases in Hagerstown, MD. Provided expert deposition testimony in both Circuit Civil and U.S. District court actions on over 150 occasions.

Determination of Sinkhole Activity, Florida

Statutory Professional Geologist. Completed hundreds of sinkhole and karst evaluations for insurance carriers, private individuals, and corporations for residential and commercial properties throughout Florida, from the Panhandle to the Keys, including planning site investigation, conducting geophysical / soil testing, and collaboration with geotechnical engineering staff for preparation of remedial plans for subsurface grouting and underpinning. Statutory Professional Geologist retained pursuant to §627.707 Florida Statutes for more than 900 cause-of-subsidence evaluations for residential and commercial buildings. Peer review of subsidence reports prepared by other engineering companies, written and verbal opinions.

Neutral Evaluation of Disputed Sinkhole Insurance Claims, Florida.

Neutral Evaluator of disputed sinkhole insurance claims as an Agent for Florida DFS, including presence / absence of sinkhole activity and evaluation of remediation strategies; projects throughout Florida; over 140 evaluations completed. Also, chosen by attorneys for the insured to act as a Binding Neutral Evaluator / Qualified Geologist on Non-DFS evaluations.

Forensic Ground Hazard Investigations

Engineering Geologist. Completed hundreds of forensic geotechnical investigations over three decades of practice in the UK and USA; various geologic hazards including: shallow abandoned mine workings, abandoned mine shafts, buried organic soils, buried trash, shrinkage and swelling of clay soils, expansive steel slag, reactivation of relict landslips, uncontrolled backfilling, liquefaction of sensitive soils during pile driving, blast damage during mining, piping erosion of soils, and tunnel failures.

Example Project - Forensic Sinkhole Investigation

Geologist of Record. Provided first-on-scene geological assessment for the owner and property manager at Winter Haven Square Mall, Winter Haven, FL following a sudden sinkhole collapse. Deployed GPR to provide real-time mapping of the progressive ground failures both at the sinkhole site and to the up-slope translational landslide, which was impacting some 300 linear feet of the parking lot. Completed deep drilling to assess the extent of the collapse zone and designed and monitored emergency backfilling to fill the sinkhole and buttress the landslide. Completed further deep investigation in the collapse zone following backfilling and provided design alternatives to the property owner for sinkhole stabilization and pavement rehabilitation. Liaison with insurance company experts.

Deposition testimony in subsequent U.S. District Court action.

Example Project – Landslip - Re-Activation of Periglacial Shear Zone

Expert Witness (UK): Represented a factory owner in Crown Court litigation against designers and installers of a steepened soil-nailed slope that had been designed to allow a parking lot expansion for a manufacturing facility located at the base of a river valley. The slope failed during soil-nail installation, causing damage to an up-slope road and water pipe (with subsequent flooding). Forensic geological exploration identified a soil stratigraphy consisting of thinly laminated (varved) clay sitting above fluvioglacial sand and gravel. The varved clay confined an artesian groundwater condition within the sand and gravel. Areas of periglacial shearing were identified, resulting from historic erosion of the toe of the slope by the river. The soil nails did not extend through the periglacial shear zone to provide support beyond the active wedge, hence the reduction in vertical effective stress during slope excavation led to re-activation of the periglacial shear zone and consequent failure.

Example Project - Sprayed Concrete Collapse, California

Project Geologist. Engaged by the homeowner's insurance company following the collapse of a degraded granitic rock slope in West Hollywood that had been stabilized with sprayed concrete. The collapse of the sprayed concrete from a neighboring property destroyed the insured's home. Provided first-on-scene forensic engineering geological assessment and subsequent expert testimony in deposition (Superior Court of California).

Example Project - Tunnel Collapse

Project Geologist (UK). Hired by British Rail to peer review engineering geological models prepared prior to the increase in crown height of a Victorian-era railway tunnel. Rockfall and groundwater control problems were being experienced during construction, requiring a reassessment of the design assumptions.

Example Project – Ground Collapse during Pile Driving, Philadelphia

Expert Geologist. Engineering geological assessment of the cause of two ground collapse sinkholes that appeared adjacent to the walls of a circa 1905 former navy dry dock. Each sinkhole damaged crane rails, rendering the dry dock partly unusable. Assessed causes of collapse by reviewing existing geotechnical borings, GPR and microgravity data. Collected independent CPT data using a seismic piezocone and delineated areas of alluvial soil that were more susceptible to liquefaction / shakedown settlement. Opined upon the relationship between the ground collapses and the contemporaneous pile driving contracts carried out by others to either side of the dry dock. Provided expert testimony in deposition in subsequent U.S. District Court action.

Example Project – Bridge Subsidence during Directional Drilling

Expert Geologist. Engineering geological assessment of the cause of subsidence of a bascule bridge. Opined upon the relationship between the subsidence and the contemporaneous directional drilling contract carried out by others through the karstified limestone that supported the bridge foundations. Provided expert testimony in deposition as part of circuit civil litigation.

Example Projects - Geotechnical Exploration and Design

Project Manager. Geotechnical exploration and design for the proposed $450 million Dr. Phillips Performing Arts Center in downtown Orlando, FL. The proposed building required deep basement construction within an urban environment under shallow water table conditions. The basement to the concert hall included an acoustic and vibration isolation system. The geotechnical exploration included SPT borings and CPT soundings with piezocone and seismic cone (allowing determination of in-situ shear wave velocity for use in the vibration analysis and to determine soil stiffness). In-situ vibration monitoring using borehole-mounted seismographs.

Project Manager. Managed the collection and interpretation of SPT boring data for the redevelopment of the Cypress Gardens attraction into the LEGOLAND Florida Theme Park. Geotechnical exploration for new rides, attractions and waterpark. Karst risk assessment for ground adjacent to existing cover collapse sinkhole and in areas previously remediated for sinkhole activity.

Project Manager. Geotechnical exploration for an 18-story Hilton hotel adjacent to the Orange County Convention Center, Orlando, FL. The project site had previously been used for stormwater management. Shallow hardpan soils had been removed over part of the building footprint. Soft Hawthorn clay deposits were present at 50-foot depth. Ground Penetrating Radar (GPR) was used to determine the distribution of the shallow hardpan layers. Deep SPT borings and CPT soundings with pore water dissipation testing were used to determine consolidation characteristics of the clay layer. Significant cost savings were realized by using a surcharge to pre-consolidate the clay layer and homogenize the density of the shallow soils, allowing the hotel to be built on a mat foundation rather than piles. The efficacy of the surcharge was monitored using vibrating-wire piezometers and rod-and-plate settlement gauges.

Project Manager. Geotechnical exploration for a townhome development in Lake Mary, FL. The project site was underlain by variable fluvial deposits, including deep buried muck. GPR and Multi-Electrode Resistivity testing was used to determine the distribution of the buried muck, followed by SPT borings and digital Cone Penetration Test soundings. Time for consolidation of the muck was calculated. Working with the project designers, a phased surcharge program to consolidate the muck was prepared, monitored using vibrating-wire piezometers and rod-and-plate settlement gauges allowing the town home product to be rolled out successively once the ground had been stabilized.

Project Manager. Port of Miami Tunnel: managed the collection and interpretation of CPT data for the $700M twin-bore tunnel beneath Biscayne Bay. Land and marine investigation, alternating mud-rotary drilling with SPT sampling and CPT sounding within the same borehole to collect data within sensitive soils interbedded with limestone layers, providing design parameters for Tunnel Boring Machine (TBM) design and tunnel support. Tunnel officially opened May 2014.

Project Manager (Bahamas). Clifton Pier Power Plant, New Providence: managed the collection and interpretation of geological and hydrogeological data for a proposed expansion of one of the largest diesel-fuel power stations in the world. Detailed exploration of the calcarenite bedrock including continuous rock coring, in-situ packer permeability testing and instrumentation. Cost of investigation over US$350,000.

Project Manager (UK). Geotechnical exploration for a proposed addition to the circa 1927 Leas Cliff Hall theatre and concert venue. The proposed expansion was on the seaward side; a self-supporting structure beneath the main hall, built into ground with a history of landslip activity caused by coastal erosion. The geotechnical exploration was carried out with limited access equipment and identified the location of the existing slope failure surface; inclinometer data indicated the failure plane was still moving. Working closely with the structural engineer, a system of vertical and raking bored cast in-situ piles was designed to support the proposed addition, despite the active landslip conditions.

Project Manager (UK). Castle Hill Mine, Dudley: stabilization of part of the Castle Hill limestone mine within an urban conurbation, specifically within the corridor of the A4123 trunk road. Silurian limestone deposit that had been worked for over 250 years. Assessed pillar stability based upon down-hole CCTV logging within the (flooded) mine. Designed and specified a program of stabilization using combined cement / fly ash backfill, prepared contract documents for stabilization.

Project Manager. Reclamation on Center Sand Mine: geotechnical exploration of a former sand mine in Clermont, FL to allow redevelopment as an 850-unit residential subdivision. Geotechnical constraints included areas underlain by under-consolidated clay mine tailings and an elevated local water table (due to adjacent hydraulic-dredge mining activity). Designed a phased surcharging program to maximize utilization of available onsite fill and supervised instrumentation with vibrating wire piezometers, inclinometer access tubing, and rod and plate settlement gauges to determine substantial completion of clay consolidation. Designed and supervised controlled clay removal by mud-waving and geogrid utility support over buried high-walls.

Project Engineer (UK). Redevelopment of the Patent Shaft Steelworks and Moorcroft Chemical Works into a commercial development site. The Patent Shaft site was partially reclaimed following open pit coal mining, removing the remnants of the Staffordshire Thick Coal, a 30-foot-thick seam which had been mined for centuries. The site was transected by the Coseley/Wednesbury Fault, which had a 120-foot throw to the west, leaving a buried high-wall through the center of the site after opencast mining. In addition to the coal mining legacy, superficial sands and gravels had been exploited on the Moorcroft site and the borrow pit subsequently backfilled with spent oxide wastes from the chemical works. Involved in supervision of the backfilling of the opencast mine, geotechnical, geo-environmental and mineworkings exploration, grouting of abandoned mine shafts and shallow abandoned mineworkings outside of the limits of the opencast site, design of ground improvement systems for buildings, design of bridge foundations for a road over the Walsall Canal, geotechnical design of the Black Country Spine Road (a one-mile four-lane highway running parallel with the opencast high wall on the north side of the site) and clean-cover isolation of the spent oxide waste. The Automotive Component Park has been operating successfully since 1995.

Project Geologist (UK). Alsops Hill Quarry Feasibility Study. The site was a 240-foot deep basalt quarry that had been used as a major domestic landfill. The client requested a feasibility study and geo-environmental assessment of the area surrounding the property in the context of a residential development. Mr. Wilshaw's investigation determined that there was a significant landfill gas migration hazard, with gas migrating both through joint sets in the basalt and through lenses of granular soil within the overlying glacial till. Development did not proceed consequently.

Project Manager. FDOT: geotechnical exploration and design for the proposed widening of SR 434 in Longwood, FL, included preparing a roadway soil survey report, drainage report and bridge report to FDOT standards. Bridge widening over the Little Wekiva River required the design of precast concrete driven piles. Roadway widening involved increasing stormwater volume by the addition of additional dry and wet retention ponds. The presence of an ancient sinkhole feature on the north side of the right of way required a specific design of a surcharge and the geogrid reinforcement; surcharge during construction was a success.

Testimony in Deposition

Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, in the case of Paul de Pace v. Alan Harris, Does 1 through 25, inclusive, and related cross actions. (2005)

Circuit Court of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit in and for Hillsborough County, Florida, Civil Division; Legacy at Tampa Condominium Association, Inc. v.
