Early bird registration to end June 1

Las Vegas – May 9, 2018 – Early bird registration is now open for The Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification's (IICRC) third-annual technical conference. Held Sept. 27-28, at the Golden Nugget Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas, the theme for this year's conference will be 'Trauma and Crime Scene Cleanup.'

Featuring a suite of expert speakers in the field of trauma and crime scene cleanup, the conference will offer attendees an inside look at what it takes to work in this niche field.

"This year's technical conference will provide an excellent networking and learning opportunity for those looking to diversify into and get involved with another area of cleaning and restoration, said Pete Duncanson, IICRC Chairman. "We're excited about our lineup of speakers thus far and look forward to introducing attendees to those considered leaders in this growing field."

Attendees will hear directly from first responders who will discuss their experiences responding to trauma, crime scene and mass-casualty events, as well as how the inspection, cleaning and restoration industry can make the process of forensics and all the steps that follow as smooth as possible.

Early Bird registration offers a $100 savings for those who register by June 1. For more information about the conference or to register, visit <https://iicrc.site-ym.com/page/2018IICRCCSC>.
