ACTIVITES & CHILD CARE

Many child care providers work with mixed-age groups and planning your child care curriculum to include creative activities that are appropriate (and safe) can be challenging during these times. As in last month's addition, we've added links with activities that may help. Please see below DOH recent guidance as of September 2020 for activities with groups.

- Staff should be assigned to individual groups and not mix with other groups.
- Cohorting of children is advised when the group size is large. The maximum group size remains at 22; however, if groups have more than 15 children they should form 2 subgroups of children who do not mix with each other within the shared space.
