Fact Sheet

The Blue Ridge Power Agency is a non-profit corporation created by its members to pursue joint action. Through the members' collective resolve and economies of scale, the Agency pursues the most reliable and lowest cost wholesale electric power supplies possible for its members.

Power supply and related transmission service are the Agency's top priorities. The Agency also serves as its members' voice in industry organizations, monitors state and federal regulatory proceedings and litigation, and advocates for member interests both directly and through associated trade organizations.
