

KATHY RUGH

Originally from Odessa, Texas, Kathy grew up with a keen interest in hair artistry. She grew up watching her mother and grandmother work in their shops. Her mother was a hairstylist and grandmother was a barber, so inspiration for her began at an early age. This experience inspired Kathy to earn her license as a cosmetologist upon graduation from Ross Sterling High School.

Kathy worked as a hair stylist in the Houston area for 13 years. In 1994 she went back to school and completed the Associates of Applied Science degree in Cosmetology Instruction. She also passed the Texas Board exam for Cosmetology Instruction. While working as a substitute teacher, she had the pleasure of meeting Victoria Callaway, who took her under her wing and trained her in production hair and makeup.

As a result, she has gone on to work for a list of clients that is nothing short of impressive. She has been given the honor of working with members of royalty such as Queen Noor of Jordan for her book launch as well as with Sarah Ferguson, Duchess of York. Kathy has also had the opportunity to work with high-ranking political figures here in the US such as President George Bush and Barbara Bush. They were so pleased with her work that they invited her and her husband to a private screening of the documentary, "41" at his library. She has also worked with President George W. Bush and Condoleezza Rice with Charlie Gibson from GMA at Crawford Ranch. Kathy's level of professionalism and talent have made her an easy choice for such impressive clients.

Kathy feels privileged to have Victoria as a mentor and to be a part of her agency. She looks forward to continuing to pursue her passion while ensuring that her clients are always happy.
